In some unexplainable way the corner of one letter on the Tam O'Shanter panel of the Burns monument has been knocked off. When or how it was done there is not the slightest suggestion. The lower part of a letter "T" is broken off, but as you stand looking at the monument it is hardly noticeable, and it is only by the closest scrutiny that one can detect it.
A. A. Smith & Brother's advertisement on the 4th page does not half express the preparations that have been going on at their store for a large fall business. Ten cases of men's roll-edged working rubbers to go at 75c per pair and six cases of ladies' 60c rubbers at 40c per pair. Men's working and dress gloves, regularly worth 75c to 85c per pair, at only 40c. Lot of $1.25 alarm clocks to go at only 80c and hundreds of other things at equally low prices. Don't fail to read their advertisement.
Probably the most delightful production of the theatrical season will be Mildred Holland in her latest creation of the role of Lolita in "A Paradise of Lies," which will be seen at the opera house on next Monday evening. Miss Holland's attainments as an actress are well known, and her efforts have always met with the approval of the public. As in her previous productions her present interpretation is marked with a regard for the minutest detail, yet with a poetic appreciation of the whole, thereby bringing forth a masterpiece of stagecraft and ingenuity, which has met with instantaneous success everywhere. It is the hand of a master who interprets the role of Lolita, for Miss Holland is the prototype of the finished artist in everything that she undertakes. Each situation and climax, be it amusing or serious, is clearly brought out, and the denouement is given with brilliancy and power.
Atkinson, Neb., Dec. 2, 1905.
After listening to Franklin Pierce Jolly's lecture last evening on "Jolly Side of Life," it gives me pleasure to say that I think he has the best all round lecture that I have been my privilege to listen to, and I would place it a notch above anything we have had in our town since I have been connected with the lecture course committee. I have been chairman of the lecture course committee for the last three years and we have had some of the best men on the platform, as we take pride in obtaining the very best. I am more than pleased to recommend Mr. Jolly to any town or city desiring a first class lecturer.—B. E. Sturdevant, chairman of lecture course committee. At the Universalist church Monday night.
